NOCN's qualifications in General Religious Education (QCF) aim to develop the religious literacy of the learners and encourage them to further their knowledge and understanding in the study and practice of religion.

The qualifications enable learners to identify diverse religious beliefs and explore their own position on faith through thinking about their experiences of life and the values of contemporary culture. They also allow them to develop their moral reasoning skills which they will be able to relate to one or more religious traditions.

Who are these qualifications for?

These qualifications are for all those interested in religious and theological studies.

The minimum age for access to these qualifications is 14.

Key benefits for your learners

These qualifications will allow your learners:

- to explore the role of religious tradition within community life
- to develop and articulate their own points of view about religion and to apply these to everyday events
- to achieve a qualification that is nationally recognised
- to work towards a qualification at their own pace
- flexibility, allowing them to take assessments at anytime, using methods to suit their learning aims and styles
- the opportunity to receive certification for individual units.

Key benefits for your centre

These qualifications:

- are accredited by the Regulatory Authorities
- are nationally recognised and quality assured
- are flexible and learner-centred to enable courses to be structured to meet the particular needs of target learners
- are suitable for use in a variety of learning environments.

All our providers have access to good practice, curriculum advice and support through their Open College Network (OCN).
